

Hairy Beardtongue

Penstemon hirsutus

|           |  |
|-----------|--|
| Light:    | Sun, Partial Sun, Shade                  |
| Soil:     | Loam, Sand, Clay                         |
| Moisture  | Medium wet. Medium, Medium-Dry, Dry      |
| Benefits: | Birds, Pollinators, Bees, Deer Resistant |
| Height:   | 18"                                      |
| Blooms:   | May, June                                |
| Zones:    | 3-9                                      |
| Color:    | Purple, blue, white                      |
| Spacing:  | 10-12"                                   |
| Root:     | Fibrous                                  |

People really should grow more penstemons. Why not start now? Hairy beardtongue sports open clusters of trumpet-shaped, flowers from late May to late June, attracting bumblebees, butterflies, and hummingbirds. Extremely adaptable, it could be the solution for your garden's problem place. The blossoms range from pale hues of purples and blues to white.